The Farmers Alliance.

St. Paul, July 23 .- St. Paul has been made the headquarters for the National movement by the United State Farmers Alliance to corner the entire wheat crop of the country. At No. 317 Wabash street for several days a large force of employes have been engaged in sending out circulars with a view of having all classes of farmers keep back their wheat crop until FURIOUS prices have advanced to a high point. The plan is to unite farmers in a gigantic wheat trust, in which the producers shall be the stockholders and by which speculators and wheat LITIGATION. buyers shall be squeezed to the wall. George M. Muller, editor of the State and a prominent Alliance man, is at the head of the movement.

The wheat crop of the United States of 1891 is estimated at five hundred million bushels. The promoters of farmers' trust believe that four-fifths of this can be held back by farmers from four to eight weeks, by which time it is thought that prices will have gone skyward. Circulars have already been sent to the secretaries of the Alliances of all wheat-growing American Vs. English Novelists.

* Too much cannot be said upon the present existing importation laws on foreign literature in manuscript. Protection to American novelists' productions is badly needed in this country, when we take into consideration the fact that there are to-day on the market in New York City hundreds of novels written by English men and women of ample means, for the publication of which the authors themselves stand the entire expense simply for the satisfaction they receive in seeing their names

"Author." No matter how creditable are the productions of the young American aspirants for literary fame, the scale of prices for their work is being daily depreciated by the manuscripts which are being foisted upon the market by these rich English writers. Although

a large percentage of the work from the pens these trans-Atlantic writers either from an instructive or an interesting point of view are beneath criticism, still they are permitted, through the compliancy of grasping publishers and the laxity of our importation laws, as regards duty being imposed on foreign manuscript, to flood the market and by being published with an assured financial profit to the publisher, whether saleable, readable or otherwise, shut out of all possible competition the really meritorious work of needy American writers, and the prices for domestic literary work are forced down to so low a figure by these foreign " bears " as to discourage the young struggling novelist of this country from attempting to enter the field in opposition to these publisherfeeing aristocrats. A reasonable degree of protection would at once shut out the greater number of this foreign MSS, and new life would be infused into the literary veins of hundreds of now unknown but talented American writers.

A BILL is pending before the suppressed merriment, until at last, hearing the voice of good old Dr. Chandler in the opening services, he relicated to be an excellent one, the means to the modern platform and composed the modern pla if a workman deposits a given sum in the bank, his employer is compelled to deposit an equal amount to the credit of the employe. This summary method of disposing of men's propery is refreshing for its coolness. Here, we think the man who pays the wages has some right to be consulted as to what shall be done with his own gains after he has faithfully discharged the contracted debt to the employe. But William has some odd ideas about human rights and indefeasible privileges, that the people under a Democratic form of government must not have the temerity to criticise.

THE rottenness of the last California Legislature is being exposed in the Faylor suit against a number of State Legislators in San Francisco. The proceedings are a disgrace to California and everybody connected with them. When the press of that State want anything to abuse it need not look to poor little Nevada, for it can stir up a mess at home that will stink bad enough to suit the smell of the most depraved journalist in that blackened State. In Nevada's most corrupt days she never was so rotten, but now she is an augel as compared with California.

News from an Alaskan exploring party puts a new face on at least some of the interior of that little-known country. It speaks of fertile grassy plains, where bleak mountains were supposed to be, and climate, which, though severe in winter, is no worse than that of many advanced countries. The worst of this country seems to be that it is hard to get at. It may come into the market when Governor Gilpin's International Railroad is extended through British

The yeast in the dough has been working ever since. Western civilization has inocalisted an empire and the pigtails of Confucius are coming under the headgear of European hatters. China is not now the stagnant pool of the July 23, 1891 past centuries. It is being permeated ith new ideas and vivifying energies of alich descent are percolating through its institutions and industries. A shrewd, prudent and thrifty race are copying the figures of the western slate and in commerce and enterprise are making radical and rapid advances.

Iron and steel works on European plans are included in the new departure. On the slope of the Hamyang hills opposite the native city of Hankow a series of works are in process of erection that promise to be completed and of considerable importance, says the Age of Steel. They will comprise two large blast furnaces of the Cleveland type, with the appurtenances, apparatus and machinery capable of pro-ducing about one hundred tons of pig iron daily. A complete Bessemer plant will be added, including two five-ton converters, with cupolas, casting cranes, blowing engines, etc. The specifications also include a large rail mill, with necessary machinery and ap-

A Siemens-Martin plant will complete the steel works. The iron department will include twenty puddling furnaces and a plate and bar mill. These works will cover twenty acres. A foreign technical staff has been secured, and in the course of a few months steel rails for Chinese raffways, soft steel for ships' plates and special metals for small arms and a gun factory will be home productions.

of Sunday Resort.

"In Greenfield Meadows, Mass., about 1848," writes a correspondent of the Youth's Companion, "lived one Edwin Smead, a farmer, whose dog was as constant as his master in attendance at the old First church. The meeting house contained a high pulpit, which was approached by winding stairs in front of the gallery containing the singers. When the congregation entered the church, the old dog, with the utmost gravity of manner, always climbed the pulpit stairs and composed himself for a nap. .

"About 1851 alterations were made in the meeting house. The seats were turned around, a platform was erected at the other end of the church, and a modern desk was placed upon it.

"When the day came for the reopening of the church the old dog walked in with the rest, and, wearing an expreswith the rest, and, wearing an expression of deep disgust at the changed appearance of things, sought the stairs leading to the old pulpit, which, alast had disappeared forever. He walked up one aisle and down the other, looking disturbed, and apparently and his farm was sold to Mr. Parmenter, a good Baptist deacon who attended his church in the village.

"The dog stuck to the farm, but did not take to the new religion. Every Sunday morning when the family started for church he was ready and trotted along by the side of the wagon until he came to the place where the read came to the place where the road branched off toward the Congregational meeting house. At that point he parted company with the family and stood by his own creed.

"For some years longer the old dog was the most constant member of that society, never missing attendance upon the Sunday services, rain or shine, until his dog days were ended."

A Freetown (Ky.) man at a St. Louis hotel tells a remarkable story. He says that when he was about twenty years of age he was an ardent sportsman, and used to frequent the woods about his native village. One day he met a vast army of squirrels advancing straight toward him, and he accidentally trod on toward him, and he accidentally trod on one and killed it. The sight of their dead brother seemed to rouse the fighting blood in the rest, and they swarmed all over him, biting through his clothing and lacerating him terribly. He screamed with pain, and his dog, which was near by, came to his assistance, but before the faithful animal got within a dozen yards of its master it was set upon by the maddened squirrels and torn to pieces. At last the young man managed to break away, and escaped with his life, though he was confined to his bed for weeks.

The Elevator Is Old. The Elevator is old.

The elevator in buildings is not so modern an invention as many suppose. In the royal palace at Luxembourg, near Vienna, in 1777, was a machine by which the Empress Queen Mary Theresa, who was too unwieldy to go up and down stairs, was conveyed through a well from one story to another. The well or shaft extended from cellar to roof, and the elevator had three strings, which, when pulled, served as signals for "go up, "down" or "stop."

Remarks and Conditions.

Nominations and entries to all stakes must be made to the Secretary on or before the 22d day of August, 1891. Entries for the pursas must be made two days preceding the race, at the regular time for closing entries as designated by the rules. Those who have nominated in stakes must name to the Secretary in writing which they will start the day before the race, at six P. M. Horses entered in purses can only be drawn by consent of the Judges.

All trotting and pacing races are the best three in five, unless otherwise specified; five to enter and three to start. But the Roard reverses the right to hold a less number than five to fill, by the withdrawal of a proportion-ate amount of the purse. Purse to be divided pro rata. Entrance fee, to per cent, on purse: to accompany pominations.

National Association Rules to govern trot-ting, but the Board reserves the right to trot heats of any two classes alternately, if neces-sary to finish any days races, or to trot a spe-cial race between heats. A horse making a walk-over-shall be entitled only to the entrance money paid in. When less than the required starters appear, they may contest for the en-trance money, to be divided as follows: 65% to the first and 33% to the second.

RIDING A BRONCO.

Old Tootles Prefers a Sudden Death to Another Such Trial. "Ever heard how Tootles rode John son's bronco?" Bill Flagg asked me one days, says Piggro. I told him I had not and he thereinto the following:

"I'knew that the little bronco was a reg'lar fire-eater the minit I laid eyes on him. One of them quiet chaps, you know-stood with his head down an' looked as if he didn't have a friend in the world. Innocent critter, 340 p. m... Express and Freight. ... 945 a. m. he was! Why, I wouldn't trusted him no 'quicker'n I would an Indian: no. sir. But Toot-oh Lor'! He had taken two or three smiles at Rattler's, an' he told me he could ride anything on hoofs-Old Nick included. Johnnagged Toot on to ride that sorrel

> "Well, sir, mebbe you won't believe it, but they had to tear down the barn around that bronco to get him out an' then it took every able-bodied man in Skytown to put a bridle on him. All the while they were gettin' the critter ready, Tootles was teadying himself against the barn. At last Johnson said, 'All aboard, Toot,' an' Toot walked right up to Mr. Bronco an' got on him an' the hoss never shootly and the said of on him, an' the hoss never shook an ear or moved a muscle. But I'll be blazed if he didn't wink at me, that critter, as much as to say. You watch me, Bill Flagg, I'll fix him.' Then I said, 'Toot, I'd get off that piece of lightning if I were you. It don't look healthy.' But Toot said, 'Dry up, Bill Flagg. I rode broncos before you was born'. After that I didn't care a was born.

rap what become of Tootles.

As I said before, that hoss never moved an' I began to think he wa'nt goin' to.

"'He's petrified,' said Johnson, over touching him in the flank with a form pitchfork.
"But you bet he wasn't petrified by a long shot. When he moved he moved so quick we couldn't see him. Then he jumped in the air 'bout fifteen feet an' come down stiff legged, ker-bang! After that there was a pause of about two seconds, when the bronco started all ways to once, an' left Toot everywhere. The last we see of that bronco he was skedaddlin' over the prairie like all possessed, an' we commenced picking up Tootles an' puttin' him together. When we had got enough of him in one pile to talk, he said: "'Wh-wh-where am I?"

" 'Wh-wh-what did he do?" "We couldn't tell what the bronco did, 'cause he did it so quick we couldn't see him. "'Say, Johnson, was you ever shook up by an earthquake?'

A Narrow Escape.

C. W. Robinson and Jules Bernardi had a very narrow escape Sunday while driving in a buggy from Boca to Camp 20. Their horse shied at a gate which croseed the road and backed suddenly, and the horse, buggy and occupants were all precipi-tated into the river. Both Robinson horse, and with their heads under water. They at last managed to extri-cate themselves and reached the shore. The horse, a fine sorrel belonging to the Boca Mill Company, was killed and the buggy was smashed to kind-

Then he leaned over the counter and shouted. "Rats! See?" he added. "Yes," said the customer: "give me plain colors."

And yet there are some men who will contend that the masculine gender embraces all there is of chivalry.

Another Bonanza Unenrthed. The El Paso Tribune is authority for the statement that a pot and chest containing some $25,000 was recently unearthed by workmen in an old building in the City of Juarez. "I wouldn't be contestin' it if she wuzn't. You never knowel that woman, I guess"
There's nothing like living with a woman to become thoroughly familiar with her little peculiarities.

SAM JONES' CHARITIES.

Receiving With One Rand, Giving

With the Other. The Weekly Tribune of El Pasc "Sam Jones is said to average about $3,000 a week for trying to save souls. There's a pointer in this for upon cleared his throat and launched some of the fellows around here who are actually paying for the privilege of losing their souls."

It might be well to add in this con-nection that the Georgia Evangelist has built and largely endowed at Carhas built and largely endowed at Car-tersville, Ga., an Orphan Asylum where upwards of eighty little or-phans, both white and colored, are taken care of until such time as they are able to shift for themselves; this orphanage alone takes $1,200 every month out of the reverend gentle-man's-private pocket. In addition to this there are now a number of vourse this, there are now a number of young men in theological seminaries being on hoofs—Old Nick included. John-son was a great joker, an' he jest gian preacher. His private charities would assume appalling figures in the eyes of many of our modern philan-thropists and he is always ready to prove himself "a friend in need," hence it seems safe to say that money invested in Say Jones is put out at invested in Sam Jones is put out at mpound interest.

RELIABLE REPORTERS.

The True One a Veritable Walk ing Phonograph.

The Sacramento News has very very zealously taken up the cudgel in behalf of the long suffering, sore, maligned reporter, as follows:

" * * The true reporter, on worthy of the name, becomes a veritable walking phonograph, or, to speak After that I didn't care a has no more bias of feeling in regard to matters terrestrial than a machine that is, while on duty. All of his sentiments, his emotions, his passions, likes and dislikes are subdued by the overmastering feeling of professio ambition to do the very best possible for his paper, and for himself. He is compelled to tell the truth. "There are those who think that a little dash of humor in an account of a meeting or a word of genial comment in a report of a convention, con stitutes what they call lying.

"To such people there is nothing to be said. Let them suffer in their ignorance, and let them be unmention by the reporters when the die.'

Right You Are.

The Walker Lake Bulletin truly comments: "Within a few weeks a petition will be sent from Philadelphia that is five miles long. It prays that he will deal kindly with his political prisoners. The Czar will very probably never hear of the petition and will certainly never see it. Be sides, it is quite likely that among the Czar's advisers are gentlemen who know what very little value is ever properly attachable to petitions. When American officials themselves are so generally regardness of peti-tions from their fellow countrymen, what is to be expected of the Czar."

The Czar himself is not a greater autocrat than are many of the little big-wigs of American politics.

Hypnotizing Mashers.

Since Miller, the masher, has been released from durance vile on $1,000 bail, he has resumed his beat before the Baldwin Hotel, powdered, po-maded and curled, and Carroll Cook his attorney, says that he is going to have Miller hypnotized so that he will quit mashing. AFTER A FRENCH FORTUNE.

Imerican Heirs Seeking Millions That American claimants to great Euro pean fortunes are getting more numer pean fortunes are getting more numer-ous from year to year. The latest case, says the Chicago Post, is that of three men who seek to obtain possession of a sum of five million dollars which has been in the hands of the French government since the time of the great Napoleon. They are Charles Francis de Thiery, of Brooklyn, Jacob Pfau, of Cheinnati, and Daniel Wolf, of the same city, and they claim to be the cirs of one Jean Thiery, of Chateau hiery, who died in Venice in 1676. He left in the bank of Venice eight hunabout ten million francs, which he left to the descendants of his father's brothers. The Venetian republic refused payment of the money on the ground that the numerous claimants had not satisfactorily proved their de scent and it remained in the bank until Venice was captured by the French Napoleon seized all the money in the bank and during his lifetime there was no use attempting to dispute his action. At the time of the restoration fresh claims were put forward by the heirs, or alleged heirs, of the Thiery estate. Those claims were all rejected by the e parts; one only excepted. A judgment of the court at Remirement dated May 15. 1854, recognized Mme. Cotton as de-scending from Claude Thiery, one of the erothers of the millionaire, Jean Thiery's father. In spite of that decision, however, Mme. Cotton dragged her case from court to court withou being able to obtain the slightest satisfaction. In order to bring about a solution to this interminable affair, certain leputies moved a resolution to the effect of granting the claimant an indemnity of five hundred thousand francs, in consideration of which she should surrender all claims to the inheritance.

The ground upon which Mme. Cotton's claim was legally founded was as follows: The original sum of money owing to the heirs Thiery was a deposit; a deposit is not subject to the laws of pro-scription; in taking possession of this deposit the French treasury constituted itself the negotiorum gestor of the Thiery heirs; it has continued to hold the money by virtue of the same title as mittee peremptorily refused to entertain such a proposition. From a general standpoint they feared that if they entertained it it would encourage the covetousness of a number of people, who believe they are being cheated out of their dues by the treasury. The com-mittee remembered that in 1791, after a vote of the assembly had authorized claimants to come forward and state their claims, more than two thousand petitions were laid before the judges, one of which were taken into account. It is therefore safe to say that it would be quite useless if the Pfaus and Wolfs should cross the Atlantic to look after these millions, as they would surely be disappointed in their expectations.

TIME'S REVENGES.

he Fate of Gen. Miguel Loses, Who Betrayed the Emperor Maximillan

It is now fully a quarter of a century since a merciful dispensation of Provi-dence so clouded the Empress Carlotta's mind that she was spared a single pang of grief when her royal husband was slaughtered in Mexico.

For nearly a generation, says the Atlanta Constitution, the widow of the unfortunate Maximilian has remained in ignorance of his fate. But slowly, and by almost imperceptible degrees, her mind has become clarified, and she is once more in the enjoyment of her fac-ulties. Looking backward through the long years of darkness, that sad Mexican business in which she played the part of a heroine seems to her nearly a dream. It is well that it is so. lotta is not an old woman. She is hardly forty-five, and something in her future may yet compensate her for her

But the same day that her recovery was announced also brought the intelli-gence that Gen. Miguel Lopez had been bitten by a mad dog and was under the Pasteur treatment.

This Lopez was the trusted officer who betrayed Maximilian to his bloodthirsty enemies-the wretch whose evil work caused Carlotta's insanity. After living all these long years, despised by even his own countrymen, and scorned by his wife for his treason, he has, peraps, met his doom

What fate would be more fitting for this false friend, who sold his benefac tor? It is hard to believe that he will be cured. He will snap and snarl and foam at the mouth like a rabid hound. He will rave in his paroxysms of maniacal frenzy. He will tear his flesh in his mad convulsions and die like a

Time brings its revenges. As the traifor Lopez sinks out of sight in the lurid shadows now descending upon him, his victim Carlotta comes once more into the light of day, serenely beautiful, once more herself, the most charming woman that has worn a crown since Eugenie in her happiest days. Dissolving views—lights and shadows—they make up life.

Short Courtships. Marriages are concluded in "an original manner" among the convicts on the island of Saghalien. When a party of female convicts arrive the men are given a half holiday and taken to a park, where they meet the newcomers. A general inspection of brides then takes place. In an hour or so the guards call time. The men must then come up to the officer in command and point out the women they have selected. If the women are satisfied the bonds are tied then and there.

are tied then and there.

Issuance of Patenta.

The average number of patents issued yearly is about 20,000. Compared with the number issued in anyother country, this is very large. England, which comes nearest to us, only issues about 4,000 to 5,000 a year, and its system is very much more lax than ours. Patents are issued without any conditions as to novelty or merits, and not two applications in 100 are rejected. In Prussia the number granted annually is less than 100, in Belgium 1,500 to 2,000.

VARIETIES OF SHINES.

Boot Blacking as a High Art in the City of Boston. There is a pleasing mystery, says the Boston Post, about the methods of the boot-blacking fraternity which I do not pretend to fathom. Indeed, it has always seemed to me more satisfactory to take them on trust than to seek to penetrate their meaning. For this reason I never ask the "professor" who does me the honor to set off my personal appearance by giving what he guaran-tees to be a "boss shine" to my boots, to show me his diploma; as long as he does his work well, I am indifferent to the authority under which he practices his art. But I was sorely tempted the other day to depart from my custom in this respect on seeing on a "professor's" placard the following list of boot black ing operations and the prices for them.

Opera shines, five cents; oil shines, ten cents; Nubian shines, fifteen cents. Not wishing to appear ignorant of such matters of importance in relation to the polish of the understanding, and feeling also that it is always well to leave something to the imagination, I refrained from probing the mystery. Sometime or other, however, I propose to ascertain the nature of these different "shines" by patronizing the "professor" who advertises them, though I have a feeling that it would be what the socialists call "culpable luxury" to pay fifteen cents for a "Nubian shine" unless it has properties beyond those which in my ignorance are associated with it.

A Chinese Ceremony. It is customary for the emperor of China to offer prayers every New Year's day for the welfare and bright pros-pects of his subjects in the eighteen provinces of his empire. At the cere mony eighteen pairs of candles are burned, and the name of a province is marked on each pair. Any of the candles that burn badly signify that such provinces as are named will suffer great calamities-sickness and the like.
